

Allied Pacific IPA

We Understand & We Care!

ANDREW CHEN, M.D.

Cardiology

Dr. Chen is a California native. He was born and raised in Los Angeles and received his undergraduate degree from the University of California, Los Angeles. His cardiology fellowship was completed at the University of Nevada, Las Vegas. He received the title of Fellow of the Year, and was a Chief Fellow during his final year of fellowship.

He is board certified in Internal Medicine, Cardiovascular Disease, and Echocardiography. From the implantable cardiac device perspective, he is trained in placement of pacemakers, implantable cardioverter defibrillators, subcutaneous implantable cardioverter defibrillators, cardiac resynchronization devices and lead extraction. From the perspective of ablation, he is trained in atrial flutter, supraventricular tachycardia, atrial fibrillation, premature ventricular contraction, and ventricular tachycardia ablation.

(626) 282-0288